Camp has been an important part of Betsy Greenberg's life for as long as she can remember. It's where she met some of her best friends, learned to believe in herself, and discovered how rewarding it can be to try something new. That spirit of discovery is exactly what drew her to Hill House Summer Camp — and it's what she brings to her role as Day Camp Team Leader every single day.

From group games on the Boston Common to field trips across the city, every moment at Hill House Day Camp is designed to spark curiosity and connection. And for Betsy, the unstructured moments matter just as much as the planned ones. A group of campers inventing their own game. A new friendship forming over snack time. A child finding the confidence to join in for the first time. These are the moments she shows up for.

Stepping into her role as Day Camp Team Leader, Betsy has a front row seat to all of it — and she wouldn't trade it for anything.

A NOTE FROM BETSY

"The spirit of discovery is what makes Hill House Summer Camp so meaningful. Each moment — planned or unplanned — is an opportunity for a child to try something new, make a new friend, and begin to discover who they are. I am so grateful to be part of making that happen."
